To Whom This May Concern

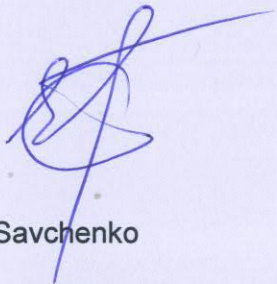

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am providing this personal reference with regard to Mrs Lyudmila Belokon's trainer's skills and the Strength Deployment Inventory (SDI) tools that Lyudmila introduced to me by delivering a relevant two-day training course.

During the course Lyudmila proved that she is an experienced trainer with very good presentation and communication skills. Lyudmila is competent in her subject, committed to delivering the best result possible to her clients. Lyudmila is easily accessible and ready to provide support to her clients even after the training end. Lyudmila has the ability to explain complex topics/themes with ease and clarity which was very much helpful because SDI was completely new to me, I wanted the best outcome from the course but could invest very little time in learning.

The SDI tool helps work with top-management by providing a specific approach to their development. SDI is an effective tool for building relationship, minimizing conflicts, building teams and increasing their motivation as well as growing personally and professionally.
